

Recap #KNXis30 VINTAGE JANUARY

The vintage wall on <https://knxis30.knx.org>

The beginning of the monthly #KNXis30 festivities were marked by the collection of pictures by the KNX community. Theme of the pictures was "Vintage KNX", which was looking at past achievements and memories.

Starting with reminiscing about the first steps, past experiences and the big challenges KNX and its whole community has successfully overcome, the month of January was all about a special way of looking at some of the greatest achievements: Vintage January.

The vintage KNX wall incorporated pictures and other contributions that brought memories back to life. With content from the whole KNX community all over the world, the vintage KNX wall was a perfect place for all to see, where KNX has been and where KNX has moved to.

The beginning marks the way

The beginning was made with a post of the first KNX Journal (formerly known as EIB Journal). And for those, who know about KNX Association's focus on training, the first headline might not surprise, as it focusses on "Training". Not only the focus on training, but the continuous philosophy of KNX throughout the last 30 years is proof that although KNX had to conquer new challenges, it stayed true to itself. A big part of the success by KNX is due to its adaption to market conditions but sticking to the principles.

ETS throughout the years

And so KNX Association continued:

- The ETS is unique on the market for smart homes and smart buildings and the only manufacturer and application independent tool.
- KNX is the only system that allows to integrate smart products by different manufacturers into one coherent integrated installation
- No break in compatibility for almost 30 years
- Certification scheme for by KNX Association unique:

A strong community

An idea or a philosophy can only live, when it is transmitted by a strong community. Early realised, KNX Association once again was the pioneer in creating a great community, which dedicated their professional and also personal lives to KNX. Thank to the KNX community, KNX is not only a technology, it has become a movement for many professionals.

Needless to say that the Vintage KNX Wall, would have been nothing without the support of our community. With pictures from one of the first KNX Userclub meeting in Germany, to visits from KNX National Groups during events by KNX Association, and not to forget biggest gathering of the KNX community in the world - The KNX Top Event!

The Vintage KNX Wall takes a bow to the worldwide KNX community, which does not only use KNX but life the technology.

In Conclusion

The January Action was not only a success due to the various contributions from our community, it was also a trip back to the great memories we all experienced all over the world. What started just as an idea has become the leading technology for smart homes and smart buildings worldwide.

Stay tuned for the next monthly actions - In February we invite you to send your birthday wishes and share them with the world!
